Cherry Hills Village resident named the National Leukemia & Lymphoma Society MAN OF THE YEAR

What happens when community leaders across the country devote 10 weeks of their time and energy to raise funds to find cures for cancer? Records are broken. The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society's (LLS) Man & Woman of the Year national campaign winners raised a record-breaking combined total of more than $900,000 for LLS's goal to find cures for blood cancers and ensure that patients have access to lifesaving treatments.

"The Man & Woman of the Year (MWOY) campaign is truly a unique fundraising campaign that differentiates LLS from other non-profits. By engaging influential community leaders across the country, Man & Woman of the Year taps into the spirit of innovation and entrepreneurship that has allowed LLS to achieve great success in investing in ground breaking research to advance cancer cures," said Louis J. DeGennaro, Ph.D., LLS President and Chief Executive Officer.

Jim Chrisman is the Senior Vice President of Forest City Stapleton, Inc. in Denver. He has been a longtime supporter of LLS and, before participating in MWOY, was a Board of Trustees Member since 2014. As a blood cancer survivor himself, Chrisman knows firsthand the importance of raising funds for blood cancer research. He became the beneficiary of a new treatment protocol and underwent a successful bone marrow transplant. During his MWOY campaign, he secured over 60 sponsors and ended up raising more money than any other Man & Woman of the Year candidate in Rocky Mountain history.

Chrisman didn't want to be identified with something as negative as cancer; he wanted to use the opportunity to leverage a bad experience into something more positive. His ultimate goal was to expand the goals of LLS, to continue research and finding cures or progressions in treatment. In his speech at the LLS gala, he spoke about how he was contacted by a woman whose husband had the same disease as Chrisman about five years ago, but did not have access to the same treatment Chrisman did because it hadn't evolved yet. "One point I made at the gala was that research is happening so quickly that the dollars people give are meaningful dollars.

It is sometimes hard to associate your giving with a direct benefit so I thought it was important to point out how direct giving can be; that in five year's time I had a protocol that wasn't readily available then. Five years from now, with these dollars that were donated today, others may have protocols in place that will help save more lives."

Mayor Musings...

Although this is published in August, I am required to meet a publishing deadline in July. I began to write an article about the ongoing design highlights of Meade Park, the wonderful farmers' market scheduled for August 19th, and a few words about the open house at our Public Safety Building; then the nation's headlines became dominated by killings. Killings of African American police suspects and killings of Police Officers themselves while in the line of duty.

What has followed these events has been rhetoric which, in my opinion, has not been particularly helpful. Saying that our officers in blue are supported by our community, is great and fairly obvious, but does not remove the targets from their backs. Saying that people of color, especially our youth, are subject to systemic racism, again fairly obvious, doesn't make them safe.

Our police force is composed of career law enforcement officers. They are well educated, well trained and led by an exceptional Police Chief. I receive numerous accolades from police chiefs in surrounding communities regarding our outstanding department.

I have great confidence in their professionalism and compassion. They deserve not only our thanks, but our respect as well.

Respect is key. Although I defend the right of free speech, I strongly believe that responsible speech is respectful speech and speech which others are willing to hear.

Huge strides have been made in our communities, but problems do not just disappear, and they do not solve themselves. Many times there is no quick solution, but moving the ball forward is better than it rolling back. Whether your political leanings are on the right or the left, nothing gets solved by finding fault with everyone and everything. We are a community of educated, dedicated citizens and many of us are business or community leaders. What you say reverberates; please speak with clarity, knowledge and most of all

RESPECT.

Respectfully submitted,
Laura Christman
Mayor

HIGH LINE CANAL TRAIL RESURFACING PROJECT

In the month of August 2016, the City of Cherry Hills Village Public Works Department will be resurfacing the entire 3.2 mile stretch of High Line Canal trail. The project will consist of installing a new layer of granite sand crusher fine material. The new layer of material will remove the large ruts and depressions that present safety hazards for users and improve the trail surface. The overall goal of the project is to keep users safe, improve the appearance and extend the useful life of the High Line Canal trail for many years to come. Please keep an eye out for additional information; as well as signage that will be placed at different locations throughout the High Line Canal trail.

For more information, please contact Ryan Berninzoni at (303) 783-2733.

CHERRY HILLS VILLAGE

Artists

The Public Art Commission accepts applications on an ongoing basis for local artists that would like to display their artwork in the Community Room of the Joint Public Safety Facility located at 2460 East Quincy Avenue. Applications are available online at www.cherryhillsvillage.com/artshows or at the Village Center, Monday-Friday from 8:00-4:30 p.m. When submitting a completed application, samples of the artist's work are also required. The Public Art Commission will review the application and samples at their next regularly scheduled meeting and, if approved, will coordinate with the artist to schedule dates for the art show. For any questions regarding the application process, you can contact Laura Smith at (303) 783-2732 or lsmith@cherryhillsvillage.com.

Cherry Hills Village and Englewood have been working cooperatively on the resurfacing of Clarkson Street, as this road is within both jurisdictions. After this project is completed, new markings on the road will be installed called sharrows. Clarkson Street has long been recognized on the Denver Regional Bike Map as a "Shared Bike Route" so these new markings will be used to raise awareness and remind drivers to share the road with bicyclists. Shared-lane markings are used to:

- Assist cyclists with positioning in a shared lane with on-street parallel parking in an effort to reduce the chance of a bicyclist impacting an open door of a parked vehicle. (Englewood side)
- Assist cyclists with positioning in lanes that are too

THE HIGH LINE CANAL CONSERVANCY'S LARGE-SCALE PLANNING EFFORT

continues through October to ensure the well-loved Canal trail reaches its greatest potential as an economic, environmental, recreational, and social asset along not just some, but all of its 71 miles. This Public Outreach and Vision Planning Phase offers the opportunity to write the exciting future vision for this stunning landscape, together as one community. The goal of this process is to develop a shared vision for the Canal, establishing key large-scale system strategies around elements of cohesion and areas of uniqueness in the broad, 71-mile project scope. This visioning process is about writing the story of the Canal's future and we need your help! Mark your calendars and invite your friends and neighbors. narrow for a motor vehicle and a bicycle to travel side by side within the same traffic lane. (Cherry Hills Village side)

- Alert motorists that bicyclists are likely to be within travel lanes.
- Encourage safe passing of bicyclists by motorists.

Studies have shown that streets with shared lane arrows increase separation between vehicles and cyclists and can decrease accidents. These markings do not change the rules or responsibilities of motorists or cyclists, but simply raise awareness and increase safety.

AUGUST 2016 Newsletter

WE'RE ALL EARS

Hearing is one of the five senses. It is a complex process of picking up sound and attaching meaning to it. The ability to hear is critical to understanding the world around us.

So, how do we hear? The ear can be divided into three parts leading up to the brain – the outer ear, the middle ear and the inner ear. The brain then interprets these electrical signals as sound. Over time, we can develop hearing loss from a breakdown anywhere in our auditory system from ear wax to nerve loss.

How common is hearing loss? Hearing loss has become very prevalent today with more than 30% of people over age 65 have some type of hearing loss. According to the American Speech and Hearing Association, adults should have their hearing screened every three years beginning at age 50.

If I don't pass my hearing screening, what's next?

The first step is to get a complete hearing test to gain an understanding of how you are hearing. If hearing loss is determined, there are many treatment options typically involving hearing aids. Hearing aids are very different from the hearing aids your grandparents wore. The focus is on comfort and cosmetics without sacrificing quality of sound.

Why do I have hearing loss? Noise-induced hearing loss is usually gradual and painless but, unfortunately, permanent. Once damaged, the hearing nerve and the sensory nerve cells do not repair. Genetics also play a significant role with our hearing. If a parent, grandparent, or a sibling suffers from hearing loss, it increases your risk of developing hearing loss (ASHA.org).

What's my first step? Schedule a hearing screening or hearing test with a hearing care professional to start your journey to better hearing health.

HEARING LOSS CLINIC

Hearing loss affects 1 in 3 people over the age of 60 and can greatly affect people's enjoyment of life and their ability to communicate with friends and family.

CONNECT HEARING

is offering a FREE Hearing Loss Clinic at the Village Center (located at 2450 East Quincy Avenue) on Wednesday, September 14th from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m.

The clinic is on a first come, first served basis and does not require an appointment, but there may be a short wait depending on how many people attend the clinic. The actual test will only take 10 to 15 minutes.

For more information regarding Connect Hearing, you can visit their website at connecthearing.com or call (303) 722-0886.

Flu Shot Clinic SAVE THE DATE

Front Range Flu Shots will be holding a flu shot clinic on Monday, October 10th from 10:30 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. at the Village Center (2450 East Quincy Avenue). This is a walk-in clinic so there is no need to make an appointment. For any questions regarding the flu shots, you can contact Front Range Flu Shots at (303) 797-3397.
